] (1	2. The high-speed printer fabrication is nearly completed. Attached are copies of the printing from our machine. One final problem, that of solving the line spacing problem, remains to be solved. With the standard teletype formatting signals, which are CRCRIF, the printer, as well as any other high-speed printer, is faced with the problem of not being able to produce single-spaced copy. has developed inhibiting circuits which will allow us to single space the page copy. The circuitry	25X 25X
